

May 11, 2009

Lenovo Recalls ThinkVision Speaker AC Adaptors Due to Shock Hazard

Toronto, ON – Electrical Safety Authority is notifying the public that Lenovo (Canada) Inc. has announced a voluntary recall of the following consumer product. Consumers should stop using recalled products immediately.

Name of Product: Lenovo ThinkVision Soundbar

Units: 74 units were sold in Canada.

Manufacturer/Importer: Lenovo (Canada) Inc.

Hazard: The ThinkVision Soundbar shipped with an A/C Adaptor. The plastic shell of the AC Adaptor can crack, posing a possible shock hazard.

Incidents/Injuries: No incidents involving this product have been reported.

Description/Models: Customers with a Lenovo ThinkVision Soundbar should look at the A/C Adaptor. If the adaptor is subject to this action, the customer will see the FRU part number 89P8571 with date code 200810 located on the back of the adaptor.

Sold by: Lenovo (Canada) Inc. and its distributors.

When was distributed: Products were sold from November 2008 through January 2009

Manufactured in: China

Remedy: Consumers should stop using the recalled AC Adaptor and contact Lenovo to receive a free replacement part.

Consumer Contact: For additional information, contact Lenovo at (800) 426-7378 anytime or visit the firm’s Web site at www.lenovo.com

Remarks: The recalled units are certified to Canadian Safety Standards by TUV Rheinland of North America, Inc. For more information about the TUV Rheinland product certification process please visit: www.tuv.com/us/en/index.html

Front

Rear

May 11, 2009

