The Electrical Safety Authority Warns Consumers about Unapproved Decorative Silk Flower Light sold at the CNE

Toronto ON - The Electrical Safety Authority (ESA) is notifying consumers about unapproved decorative silk flower lamps that were sold at the Canadian National Exhibition. The product is a silk flower arrangement with integral 120 volt lighting. These products are unapproved, not tested to any Canadian Safety Standards and do not bear any recognized certification mark in Canada.

Direction: Electrical Safety Authority requests consumers to stop using these products immediately.
